Skills Worksheet

Science Skills

Interpreting Scientific Illustrations

Questions 1–3 refer to the figure below.

1. Identify and describe the structure labeled A.

_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________

2. What process occurs at both site A and site B?

_________________________________________________________________

3. Compare and contrast the process of gas exchange that takes place at these two sites.

_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
The figure below shows the steps involved in the regulation of blood glucose levels. Using the spaces provided, fill in the missing steps.

4. ____________________________________________________________________

5. ____________________________________________________________________

6. ____________________________________________________________________